Skirts in the Boardroom is designed to equip women with the strategies necessary to combine confidence and compassion, style and substance, and, of course, beauty and brains. A must have for all women looking to maximize their professional potential, Skirts in the Boardroom offers refreshing and inspiring business advice that is savvy, sensible, straightforward, and long overdue!

Lessons, Legacy, and Leadership (or alternate title Never Do Less With More)

What do heroes and sheroes like Booker T. Washington, Sidney Poitier, Duke Ellington, Hattie McDaniel, Sojourner Truth, and Rosa Parks have in common? They were all able to defy the O.D.D.S., and make a difference despite circumstances. Why is it that today's generation has more available in terms of resources and opportunity, yet they choose to do less. During the presentation the speaker challenges the audience to never do less when they have so much more. Reflecting on the lives of black legends, Marshawn motivates the audience to adopt strategies for making a lifelong impact, not just an impression.

King-Dreaming: Living the Legacy of HIStory & HERstory

Martin's Luther King, Jr.'s "I Have a Dream" speech is probably one of the most important, influential and inspiring speeches in America history. The lives lived by Martin Luther King, Jr. and his wife Coretta Scott King is equally moving and educational. King-Dreaming explores lessons in leadership by celebrating the legacy of both legends. The presentation challenges attendees to remember that fulfilling the dream requires us to continue the fight to improve the quality education, justice, and economic opportunity available to women and people of color in America. More is required of this generation. Being present is not enough
