

KEN SCHULTZ

Ken Schultz combines a quick-witted writing style with a booming basso-profundo delivery, resulting in a stand-up act that proves that intelligent people can be intentionally funny, too.

Credited by his peers for his well-crafted material, Ken is unafraid to tackle "bigger topics", such as religion or politics. He was born and raised in Chicago, and the city is definitely a part of his act, to the point where he has proudly admitted his Cub fandom while working a club in St. Louis. Against all odds, he survived the week intact. After graduating from Kenyon College with a double major in English and Drama, Schultz realized that no fortune 500 companies were lining up to tell someone to analyze Act IV, Scene ii of King Lear. So he decided to make a living telling jokes in dorm cafeterias. People seem to be OK with this.
